Dual program for choir

Howard Hanson's setting of three selections from Walt Whitman's "Drum Taps" will be the main offering of the MSC choir in a concert in Weld hall auditorium Monday, Feb. 10, at 8:15 p.m. The concert is open to the public free of charge.

Under the direction of Dr. H. D. Harmon, head of the MSC music department, the concert will be accompanied by members of the Fargo-Moorhead Symphony Orchestra. Joseph Casey, senior from Red Lake Falls, Minn., will sing the baritone solo.

Considered one of the best literary expressions of the Civil War, the poems entitled "Drum Taps" were written by Walt Whitman on his experiences as a professional visitor to the sick and wounded in Washington hospitals.

Set February date for sorority dance

"Moonlight Melodies" will be the theme for this year's Gamma Nu dinner-dance. This annual dinner and dance will be held Feb. 22 at the Moorhead Country Club.

Chaperones will be the advisors and their husbands, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Glasrud, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lee and Dr. and Mrs. John Jenkins.

Committees for planning and preparations have been set up.

Room decorations are being taken care of by Patti Evernham, Lynne Anderson, and Sherry Westad. Taking care of table decorations are Dee Hanson, Ruth Neilson, and Barb Kranch.

Ellen Greenwood, Marianne Murphy, and Faye Colmark are planning the program. General arrangements are being made by Judy Ford and Solveig Ramstad.

Prexy to travel, give local talks

Dr. A. L. Knoblauch will speak at the Hawley Lions Club Ladies Night, Monday, Feb. 10.

On Tuesday and Wednesday he will attend a meeting of the State School Board Members Association in St. Paul.

With Dr. Charles R. Sattgast, president, Bemidji State College, Dr. Knoblauch will go to the Duluth Branch of the U of M and to Superior State College Feb. 14.

They will discuss with representatives of three colleges the possibilities of joining in a new athletic conference consisting of eight members including the five state colleges.

Representative here

Mr. Lawrence G. Barry or another representative for civil service from St. Paul will be at MS Thursday, Feb. 13, at 9:30 a.m.

Students interested are asked to come to the placement office to meet Mr. Barry or the representative.

Mr. Barry was at MS last year to speak to the seniors.

Dragon trip to Alaska

Alaska will be the destination of the 17th annual Dragon tour, a part of the MSC summer session program for which students may earn seven hours of geography credit. The trip begins July 27 and ends Aug. 26.

Highlights of the trip to Alaska will be visits to the Badlands of North Dakota and Montana, Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies, and the frontier city of Whitehorse in the Yukon Territory.

The first full day in Alaska will be spent at Valdez and the trip will continue to other cities. At Fairbanks arrangements may be made for a flight over the Arctic Circle. Plans are for city tours of Anchorage and Juneau.

The return trip is to begin with a flight over the coastline of western Canada. Then the students will drive

Rev. Preus in RE week preparations

"Life's Master Key," this year's Religious Emphasis Week, Theme, will be carried out by main speaker David Preus, Minneapolis, at the opening vocation Monday, Feb. 17.

Preus was recently called to the University Lutheran Church of Hope in Minneapolis after being pastor to students at the University of Minnesota.

With approximately 700 of the 2000 member congregation at Hope being students, he feels that he will be ministering to much the same group now as before the change.

Born in Decorah, Iowa, he attended Luther College there before studying at Luther Seminary in St. Paul. He did his graduate work at the University of Minnesota, Union Theological Seminary, New York, and the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

He says the only "notorious" thing that he did during college and the seminary was to be a basketball player. He is now playing on the Hope Church basketball team.

He also added that he was an "athletic tramp," and participated in the usual run of collegiate activities.

During World War II he was in the service for three and a half years.

There are three children in the Preus family, Martha age five, David, four, and Steven, one.

Preus has also spoken at Concordia and the AC within the last few years and so is not a stranger to students in this area.

Religious Emphasis Week will be from Feb. 17 through Feb. 20. Details of the week's activities will appear next week.

Article puts challenge to US graduate school

Teachers will be influenced by the lead article in College English this month. One way or another, they will be stimulated to form opinions.

By William Riley Parker, former executive secretary of the Modern Language Association, it is the transcript of a speech he gave at the recent annual meeting of MLA.

Parker says, as have others, that the graduate school is not turning out the kind of teacher it should. He doesn't make recommendations. He points out the kind of evils that an education based too much on research has led to.

Asserting that a graduate school faculty has a collective responsibility in giving students a liberal education, he believes that we have in late years tended to departmentalize.

Departmentalization within schools has broken down knowledge into categories. We have departments of English, of history, of education, and so on, at a time we should be integrating. This has even extended to professional organizations, whose areas of interest grow ever more narrow.

This in turn has led to specialization on the part of the student. He becomes an expert in the teaching of Melville or in the teaching of remedial reading, but can be stand up at all as a cultural human being, the first requirement of a good teacher?

"We have produced humanists who are not really humane," states Parker "critics without commonsense, unphilosophic philosophers... In their personal lives and behavior they give no signs of ever having gained the literary culture or the scholarly judgment they are supposedly teaching others."

Those who believe that specialization is a training for wider things, for seeing everything in great depth, will probably agree with Parker that specialization does not always bring ideal results.

Those who agree with Parker will be pleased at the highly cultured tone of a learned man speaking on their side. But they should perhaps ask themselves if the attempts at revision have so far produced teachers of the quality which Parker wants.

It is easy to blame the graduate schools for too much specializing. It is charged nowadays also that the schools a student attends before graduate school do not start to give the general cultural education which was originally their role.

Heads panel

President A. L. Knoblauch of MSC will be chairman of a panel consisting of members from the southern and central United States during a meeting of the American Association of School Administrators in St. Louis, Mo., Monday, Feb. 24.

The panel members will discuss "Reciprocity in Teacher Certification," or ways and means of allowing teachers who are qualified to teach in one school or state to teach anywhere in the United States.

The members of the North-Central Region panel are: August W. Eberle, provost, University of Chattanooga, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction, Springfield, Ill.; Lucille D. Rosenow, superintendent of schools, Golden Valley, Minn.; and William Savage, dean, School of Education, University of South Carolina, Columbia, S. C.

Hamilton Vasey, superintendent of schools, Fargo, will present the subject.

Tuesday, the 25th, the president will participate in a panel discussing what is new in the content and methods of teaching mathematics. The chairman of this panel is Ralph W. Osborne, superintendent of schools, Paducah, Ky.

Twenty-two states are included in this regional convention held from Feb. 21 through Feb. 25.

Friday headache

Leap before you look tactics are in evidence every Friday a.m. just after MSC students read their Mistics. Students, delighted at finding errors, immediately collar the nearest Mistic staffer and shout in his ear, "I found a mistake! Why did you print this?"

Those students seldom take time to find out who wrote an article and where the writer got his information. To illustrate this point I can think of many good examples, but I will use a hypothetical situation (much like many situations that do occur.)

It is a Friday morning, and I look up from my typewriter to see four fanatical faces and eight eyes burning with the white heat of fury.

"Hi."

"How could you let the paper go to press with such a lousy mistake in it?"

"Who?" I look around and behind my chair. "Me?"

"Yeah, you. You said in the paper that MS men don't never take no girls out. Dat's a lie. What kind of a lousy gripe sheet do you write for. Huh?"

"Hey, now wait a minute. I didn't write anything like that. I don't know of anyone who did either."

"Somebody did, and we wanna know who."

"I'm sorry, I can't help you. You'll have to talk to the editor."

"I wanna know! I took a girl out onest, and it's a dirty lie that MS men don't date."

"Listen, why don't you look and see if this 'dirty lie' was in an opinion column?"

"We'll be back, you just wait."

And they are back, this time with faces red with shame, not anger... it seems one of their best friends wrote the article in question, via a letter to the editor.

It would save trouble if readers would take the time to investigate. It would save embarrassment too, embarrassment to those people who get riled up.

Not only do some students take the trouble to find out where articles or mistakes originate, but they seldom take the time to stop and think about what they read. Instead they noisily storm the Mistic office to scream at staff members about "unjust, lousy, lying" articles and editorials when in reality the things they have read are neither unjust nor do they lie. Calm consideration often leads these get-mad-first-think-after students to new conclusions.

Let's not leap, readers... remember our four furious friends, and THIMK!

Obsolete again

Is there a shock coming for that most pampered member of society — the teacher?

Teachers have been feeling pretty good lately. Having become rare birds in the professional fields in the past few years, many concessions have been made to them.

Teachers have been given more prestige in the community. Their problems have been considered sympathetically. Some communities have even gone so far as to pay them enough to live on!

But what is in store for them now?

Because of the teacher shortage, Harvard University has developed teaching machines. The machines, say the people who developed them, record all the particles of knowledge which make up a course. Questions and answers are also put on records. The student then withdraws to a cubicle with a machine and gets taught.

And of course we've all heard about the success of television teaching, which is being expanded to make up for teachers. Supposedly students learn better by TV than in a conventional classroom.

But for those who look forward to the era of cheap, teacherless education via millions of machines and nationwide TV programs, we pose the question: What is teaching?

It may be more than memorized answers. It may be more than any test of objective knowledge — or of any type of knowledge — can show. It may be something not demonstrable and it may be something no more concrete than the influence of a good teacher on a willing student. We think a machine cannot replace it.

After all, was the development of the printed book a threat?

Business club meets

Business club held its last meeting on Wednesday evening, Jan. 29 in room 105-6, MacLean. Program chairman Paul Nelson presided over the meeting in the absence of the president and vice president.

Members discussed whether to change the meeting day from Wednesday to Monday evening because of conflicts. No decision was reached.

Three films were shown: "How to Keep a Job," "The Accounting Profession," and "Writing of Checks."

Refreshments were served following the meeting by Janice Mattson and Elaine Harris.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 12 at 6:45 p.m. Scheduled to speak is Mr. Litherland of Moorhead Chamber of Commerce on "Greater Moorhead Development."

To all male students:

Men, are you going to take this lying down? Scuttlebutt has it that the dorms (women's) are full of malicious gossip and deprecatory talk about the men on campus.

Do you believe that you shirk your dating duties? Do you feel that you fail to notice women? Do you have to be hit over the head before becoming aware of the dating possibilities among your co-educational compatriots?

Let's not let those women get away with this... come on, let's put them in their place... or at least explain our position.

Hold business meeting

Meeting at noon in the Hollyhock room members of the MSC chapter of AAUP discussed after luncheon business of the organization.

Drs. Catherine Cater, Franklin Batdorf, and John Smith were appointed to a nominating committee to present a slate of nominations for next year's officers to be elected in April.

Members decided to have evening meetings in the homes of members for the purposes of holding discussions on academic matters not directly concerned with the faculty of MSC. The next meeting is tentatively set for Feb. 28.

To attend meeting

President Knoblauch will attend a committee meeting of the American Association of Colleges of Teacher Education Feb. 8 to 10 in Chicago.

The committee on improving international understanding will devote three days to working with foreign educators in developing a program to set up field projects to be conducted by various colleges here and abroad.

Gets appointment

Miss Grace Gregerson, MSC education department, has been appointed chairwoman of the University of Chicago alumni fund drive in Fargo.

She will head a committee which will call on Chicago alumni to add to this year's national goal of $550,000 for the university. The money is to be used for the undergraduate college and to finance research and teaching in its graduate and professional schools.

Miss Gregerson received her A.M. degree from the University of Chicago.

I'm sorry, young man, but this class is only open to psychology majors.

It would be nice to think that MS's problems are unique... but it's not so. Last week's UMD Statesman points that out, i.e., they (the students at UMD) are also a the-cafeteria-food-is-lousy, rotten, and-generally-no-good kick too. But then, what students aren't?

Mankato State has the right idea about illegal parking... this appeared in their paper, the Reporter, last week. "Any cars parked illegally in the school parking lot will be towed to the edge of the cliff behind the physical building and pushed over. Cars may be reclaimed at Joe's Junk Yard. Bring a basket."

Two or three issues back I quoted a Colorado University prof who stated his belief that four out of five college students ought to be sent home. I heard no comments on this around here, but NDSC students had something to say in their last paper to the effect that they did not, for the most part, agree. Hummm.

Sweetheart's Ball

planned for Feb. 15

Ward Dunkirk and his combo will play for the first annual AE Sweetheart's ball to be held Feb. 15 in the college gymnasium.

The Ball, to be given in honor of AE sweetheart Diane McLean, is open to the entire MSC student body free of charge.

To host tea

The Women's Off-Campus Association members will be hostesses at a "Sweetheart Tea" to be held in Ingleside on Friday afternoon, Feb. 14. All students and faculty members are invited.

Library adds new guide

Library users will find a new periodical guide on the table next to the periodical index table in the South Reading Room of the Library.

It lists all the magazines available in the library and gives their location. Library users are expected to consult this index first, but librarians are available to help students.

This periodical guide does not include newspapers, but it lists 450 magazines to which the library subscribes now or has subscribed to in the past.

New magazines added recently are: The Arithmetic Teacher, Children, Christian Life, Columbia University Forum, Comparative Education Review, Discourse, Journal of Developmental Reading, New England Quarterly, Phi Delta Kappan, Sales Management, Sewanee Review, and Turtos News. They are in the current magazine room.

MS graduate in Turkey tells of Istanbul teaching (Chuck Olson, a 1957 graduate of MSC is teaching in the academy of Robert College, Istanbul, Turkey, a non-sectarian English language college which is the oldest American institution of higher learning outside the continental United States.

In the excerpts from the following letter recently received from him, he tells about his teaching experiences there.)

Thursday, Jan. 23
The chore of grading semester exams and figuring final averages has abated and I have been thoroughly enjoying the winter vacation for the past week and a half. If I had had something in my wallet besides mothballs I probably would have gone some place in Europe for the interim.

There is plenty of time for such travelling and I wanted to use part of this vacation looking around Istanbul. As it is, I have done little sight-seeing around town.

I have been tutoring every day since the 13th, read some, studied some, and met several interesting people who have broadened my social opportunities in the area, (among them) a Frenchman my age with whom I shall exchange English for French lessons beginning Monday.

Teaching different

I came over here with the idea that teaching these boys would be quite a bit different from teaching students of the same age level in a US public school. I am encountering the same attitudes of indifference toward studies here that I would expect to find in America, but these boys are more respectful of the teacher and the classroom situation.

I teach form I and form II English and eight periods of speech. As you no doubt remember, form I and form II are the third and fourth years respectively.

I advise the academy newspaper, The Echo, and have several hard-working, conscientious boys on the staff. The job of advising is, however, a headache at times.

It has been nice to receive the Mistic. None has arrived since New Year's; they were no doubt delayed by the flood of Christmas mail. I did read that an English club had been formed and wondered if it was achieving much.

"The bright lights"

I have been pretty busy this past week just flitting around. I tutor most of each afternoon and never wake up until noon. Come evening I am out among the bright lights.

Last Tuesday I was invited to dinner at the home of a Turkish friend of mine - a medical student at Istanbul University. Around 10 p.m. we went to the Park Hotel to listen to Eddie, the piano player.

I spent quite a while talking to a Greek businessman and the following day we visited the (Istanbul) Hilton Hotel. He introduced me to Henri, the Frenchman I mentioned before. This weekend I shall devote to letters and my French.

Sincerely,
Chuck Olson

(The Mistic can use letters from MSC grads who are teaching in interesting places or situations. If you've received letters of sufficient interest, would you please turn them in to us?)

AAUP to meet

The Mankato chapter of AAUP has suggested a meeting of members of AAUP at the Winona Interfaculty meeting in April.

The state college chapters are also planning to meet this month at the University to discuss the disposition of the administration of the colleges.

Dr. David G. Barry, president of the Mankato chapter, also reports that a fact finding delegation was sent to the Duluth Branch of the University to study the effects of University control over a state college.

Outcome of the meeting in Minneapolis and the delegation report may be recommendations to the state college board.

The Mankato chapter has a membership of 44.

Your 1958-59 Student Commission candidates

Each commission candidate was sent a questionnaire by the Western Mistic. The questionnaire asked these questions

- (1) Why do you seek the office for which you are nominated?
- (2) What specific problems do you feel confront the commission of 1958-59?
- (3) In what activities and organizations have you participated which you feel would qualify you for the office you are seeking?

Pictures of each of the candidates, along with their replies to the questions, appear below.

Members of the student body will vote in the primary election on Feb. 13.

For president:

Larry Foreman

A Moorhead junior, Larry is majoring in social studies and minoring in English.

"The '58-59 Student Commission will have to work to gain the student body's genuine interest in the commission's activities. If the commission is to be the effective group the students want it to be, then enough interest must be generated so that the students will use the commission as a channel through which their problems and suggestions for the betterment of the college can be acted upon.

"Further, in view of increasing enrollment, there is the possibility the new commission should consider enlarging its membership."

Larry is a member of the '57-58 commission (religious commissioner), junior class president, secretary of Circle K, and a member of Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Art Lensegrat

A Halstad junior, Art is majoring in business administration and education with a physical education minor.

"The functions of our student-body are only as effective as our Student Commission representatives help us make them. If elected, I shall work for effective representation on behalf of the student body with the goal of helping each student feel that he is an integral part of our college.

"The organizational work which I have had in the Circle K club, and my past supervisory experience in the army afford me a background for the office I am seeking."

For vice president:

Marvel Froemming

A former Alexandria resident, Marvel now hails from Moorhead. Marvel is a junior majoring in mathematics and minoring in social studies.

"I believe the '58-59 Student Commission should work toward establishing itself as a group which is truly representative of the wishes of the student body. Students must be encouraged to take their problems to the commission and then to work with the commission in solving these problems. The commission should also serve as an effective liaison between the student body and the administration.

"Then there is the ever present problem of 'suitcase students' which I feel might be solved by providing for more diversified weekend activities on campus.

"At the present time I am serving as president of the Bookstore Board and vice president of Gamma Nu sorority. I am also a member of Kappa Delta Pi, the Mistic staff, and several other campus organizations."

Eugene Goedel

A junior from Wadena, "Gino" is majoring in math and minoring in physical science and physical education.

"I am seeking the office of vice-president to be of service to the college and to gain a background in leadership. I feel that the 1958-59 commission should work to be a more effective liaison between the students and the administration. It should attempt to get better student interest and participation in its functioning so it will have a better idea of student wishes."

Gino is a member of the 1957-58 commission (properties commissioner), a Ballard hall counselor, a member of the Ballard dorm council, and president of "M" club.

For treasurer:

Gayle Anderson

A junior from Thief River Falls, "Andy" is a math major with a minor in physical science and business education.

"The office of treasurer of the Student Commission entails much responsibility and requires a knowledge of business affairs. I seek the office on the basis of a business background and a knowledge of the bookkeeping system. The office requires coordination of commission income and spending, and continuance of close cooperation with the business office and with the specific campus organizations."

responsibility and requires a knowledge of business affairs. I seek the office on the basis of a business background and a knowledge of the bookkeeping system. The office requires coordination of commission income and spending, and continuance of close cooperation with the business office and with the specific campus organizations."

Duane Eide

From Moorhead, Duane is a junior majoring in English and math and minoring in Spanish.

"I feel that the students at MSC should be more fully informed as to the purpose and use of the money which is provided for their benefits. I believe, furthermore, that this money handled by the Student Commission should be put to a use that will serve to the fullest extent the students of MS.

"In the coming year the Student Commission will be expected more and more to satisfy the wants and desires of the student body. There are perhaps many aspects which would contribute toward this satisfaction; however, there is one which I deem quite important. . . namely, providing more activities and more recreation for campus students. I am convinced that in this way an incentive will be developed which will keep our students on campus during weekends; therefore providing, among other things, a more united student body.

"I am at present the treasurer of the junior class and am a member of the newly organized Student Union planning committee. I am a member of the AE fraternity and have served, for the past year, as corresponding secretary. I was selected by the AE's to serve as co-chairman of their annual AE Songfest."

Gary Johnson

Gary is a junior elementary major from Staples.

"If I am elected, I will try to see that the budgets of all our campus organizations be met according to their needs. I will also try to make for better relationships between the administration, the commission, and the student body."

Gary plays football, participates in intramurals, is vice president of "M" club, and is treasurer of Ballard hall club.

For secretary:

Nancy Johnson

A junior from Halstad, Nancy is majoring in English and minoring in speech and library science.

"Having served on the Student Commission for the past year, it appears there is one major problem.

That is, creating a better line of communication between the commission and the student body. I hope in the following year that students will feel free to bring their complaints to the commission and thereby work with and through the commission for the desired ends.

"I am at present serving on the Student Union planning committee. I have also served on student-faculty groups. I am a member of the Gamma Nu sorority, served on the dormitory governing board, and have been active in several other campus organizations."

"I am very anxious to be a part of the Student Commission next year."

Leah Loffer

An elementary major and an art minor, Leah is a junior from Fargo.

"With MSC's program of expansion, there will be many problems which concern the student body. I believe that part of the commission's duty will be to inform and consult the students on the issues which concern them; and as secretary I would try to see that the student body is informed."

"I believe I could handle this office and I would do my best to represent the students and the school."

"Since coming to MSC I have been a member of WOCA, a member of Beta Chi sorority, and a member of art club."

Diane McLean

An elementary major, Diane is from Adams, N. D., and a sophomore.

"If elected secretary of Student Commission, I will do my best to keep the student body informed on the actions of the commission."

"In will try to help promote weekend activities and support the attempts of various organizations to do so. Arousing student interest would make present activities more successful and warrant additional activities. Such examples are co-rec, dances after games, and concerts."

"At present I am secretary of Psi Delta Kappa sorority."

Bruce Swanson

A junior from Moorhead, Bruce is a business education major and a geography minor.

"I am seeking the office of secretary of the Student Commission because I would like to do my part in helping the school. I also feel that it would be a wonderful experience and a great help to me in the future."

"I think that one of the problems that will confront the Student Commission is the promotion of better student participation in the college's activities."

"In my freshman year I was a member of the freshman council and am now a member of Circle K and the Alpha Epsilon fraternity."

For athletic:

Dean Erickson

Dean is a sophomore majoring in industrial arts and minoring in physical education. He is from Lowry.

"The support of athletics and the ability of this school to draw top-notch athletes leave much to be desired. The recruiting program begs attention and I believe the Student Commission with the support of the student body could remedy this."

Sherman Moe

A physical education major from Ada, Sherman is an MSC junior.

"I am seeking the office of athletic commissioner in the Student Commission because I feel that I am capable of fulfilling its obligations and because I have a phy. ed. major and have participated in basketball and track for three years. I feel these activities give me an insight into the problems and needs that confront our athletic setup."

Dick Seal

Dick is a junior from Alexandria majoring in physical education and minoring in journalism.

"The position of athletic commissioner is an important job on the Student Commission and I feel that it should be handled as such. Through three years of experience with college athletics at Moorhead State, I feel that I have been close to the department and would like very much to see athletics an even bigger part of our school."

Dale Skalisky

A sophomore from Wadena, Dale is majoring in physical education and minoring in biology.

"I have been very close to athletics most of my life and I think I know some of the problems that the commission faces. I would like to try to help solve some of these problems."

"The budget is always the biggest problem to my knowledge."

"I have participated in football, basketball, and track here at MSC. I am also a member of M club and Major-Minor club."

Wes Van Tassel

Wes, from Kent, is a sophomore majoring in science and minoring in mathematics.

"I am applying for athletic commissioner because I feel the athletes and students of this college should have an interested person in such a position that they can, through him, obtain, defend, or remove problems brought before them."

"Problems next year will probably center around food, game trips, seating space for students, and equipment."

"I am behind our present athletic program, have lettered in football and baseball, and belong to M club. I am sophomore class president and an AE. I feel that certain improvements should be made and comforts added, both for the enjoyment of the athletes and the students."

Constitution, rule changes

The following are the proposed amendments to be voted on in the general election on Feb. 19, 1958:

Amendment to Section II, Article V.:

Qualifications of officers and commissioners:

This article shall be amended to read as follows: The offices of president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer shall be filled by students having completed five quarters of college upon installation of the new commission in the spring quarter following the general election. They will also be expected to be able to complete their full term if elected and carry at least twelve quarter hours of work and have an average standing of "C" in their work.

Amendment to Section IV of the by-laws, under commission appointments and duties: 1. Board of Student Publications. This section shall be amended to read as follows: Within two weeks after the installation of the Student Commission, the commission shall appoint two faculty members who in turn shall select five members of the student body at large to serve on the Board of Student Publications. In addition to these five members the board shall consist of (a) editor of the Mistic (b) editor of the Dragon (c) business manager of the Mistic (d) business manager of the Dragon.

The reason for changing the qualifications for the four executive offices is to make it possible for a third quarter sophomore to run for office. There have been many occasions when selecting only juniors for the offices meant not having the best possible candidates run for office.

The reason for the change to enlarge the student publications board is to make it more effective and efficient. The present board has been too busy with the student publications and has had not time to work out problems that arise during the year. It would also make it possible for other students outside the commission and publications staff to have a voice in the college publications.

Notice: rule changes

The following changes have been made in the Student Commission campaign rules: 1. Candidates are not restricted to ten units apiece of campaign material, and 2. Sound equipment may be used between and after classes. (The Student Commission room cannot be used for campaign purposes.)

Campaign rules are as follows:

1. Campaigning for the primary election will be from 8 a.m., Feb. 6 through 6 p.m. Feb. 11. All campaign materials must be removed by 6 p.m.

2. Campaign materials may be placed only on the first floor of MacLean up to and including landings on the second floor, in the Student Center, and outside.

3. Only masking tape may be used to fasten campaign materials to walls.

4. All posters must be posted below the red line on the walls.

5. Any material placed outside must be within the campus.

6. No favors may be given away by candidates during the campaign.

Campaigning for the final election will be from 9 a.m. Feb. 14 to 6 p.m. the day preceding the final election. With the exception of the time designated for campaigning, the same regulations will apply to campaigning for the final election as for the primary election.

Remember to vote on Tuesday, Feb. 13

For music:

Ward Dunkirk

From Fargo, Ward is a junior music major with a minor in speech. Ward is a transfer from NDSC.

"I am sincerely interested in promoting our musical program and the cause of music in general. I feel that the program at MSC has shown, and will continue to show, great possibilities, a result of which will bring many more students to our growing campus. I also feel that service on the commission would be a great opportunity and experience for me."

"One of the things I would like to do particularly is develop an inter-school musical appreciation program. This could probably be introduced through the Student Union planning committee."

"Probably one of the main problems that will face the next commission will be that of determining the student activity fee."

"I am now a member of the choir, band, madrigal singers, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, Tau Chi Mu, and for the past two years have been musical director at WDAY radio."

John Eskelson

An industrial arts major and a business minor, John is a sophomore from Terrace.

"I choose the office of music for two reasons: (1) I would like to have more experience in student government, and (2) music is something that I really enjoy; and I would be able to devote full time to it."

"I have had five quarters of choir and one quarter of business. I also belong to the Madrigal singing group under Dr. Harmon."

Marcia Martin

From Crookston, Marcia is a junior majoring in elementary education and minoring in music.

"Being music commissioner requires an active member in music organizations on campus and a genuine interest in the things that pertain to the music department, its students, and the entire student body of Moorhead State. Because these interests are my interests, I seek the office of 1958-59 music commissioner."

"Being a member of band, choir, Tau Chi Mu, and Sigma Alpha Iota, my qualifications provide a good background for the office."

DeWayne Larson

"Phil," from Pelican Rapids, is a sophomore majoring in music and minoring in mathematics.

"I would like to continue the practice of corresponding with high school seniors who are prospective college students, this practice being initiated by the present music commissioner. I would like to see this program enlarged as much as possible."

"Perhaps the problems of the coming year will not be very different from the problems of this past year, but our school is always growing; therefore these problems become bigger as well."

"I have been a member of the band and choir for the past four quarters. I am vice-president of Phi Mu Alpha, Sinfonia fraternity, president of Tau Chi Mu, secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class, and vice president of the Madrigal singers."

For religion:

Garnet Badtke

A junior from Minneapolis, Garnet is majoring in English, with a minor in history.

"In view of the recent upsurge of opinion over school spirit, the commission faces a year of cementing and developing closer working relationships between the student body and itself. I feel that the commission's job is to represent the students; hence, it needs to know what they want and why. It would be my duty to represent each religious organization on campus equally in the college program."

"I have served as LSA president, and have taught Thursday school and Sunday school. I also worked on the speaker committee for Religious Emphasis Week."

Marvis Ege

A Fargo junior, Marvis is majoring in elementary education.

"I filed for the office of religious commissioner as I feel the religious factors on campus are an important aspect in making college life more meaningful. It is the duty of the religious commissioner to help coordinate functions for the entire student body in such a way as to include all religious denominations."

"As a resident of Fargo-Moorhead, I feel it will be possible for me to contact area pastors, some of whom I know personally, to make the religious events of MSC a stimulating experience."

Frank Gieselmann

Frank is from Herman and is a sophomore majoring in social studies and minoring in physical education.

"I seek the office of religious commissioner because I am interested in seeing the religious organizations of MSC get the representation they deserve. Religion holds a high place in any college."

"I feel the big problems that confront the commission of 1958-59 are (a) improved food service, (b) more even distribution of student activity money, (c) lagging school spirit, and (4) too few projects to interest the students."

"I am a member of the Newman club, and I will work hard to represent all of the religious organizations on campus."

Orville Moran

"Monk" is a junior from Little Falls majoring in social studies and English.

"It is imperative that the Student Commission have a greater voice in the policies of the school. The disappearance of the old Student Center was the disappearance of the social center of which we find ourselves in dire need. How progressive is progress?"

"I believe that one goal to be striven for by the Student Commission is that of a closer relationship with the student body. If elected, I plan to do all that I can in respect to this problem."

For properties:

Henry Hettwer

A Carrington, N. D. junior, Hank is a physical education major and a social studies minor.

"If I am elected, I will try to provide better facilities for the organizations on the campus."

"The biggest problem confronting the commission: to provide a stronger Student Commission on this campus."

"I have participated in these activities and organizations: football, wrestling, intramurals, M club, treasurer of Major-Minor, guardian angel of the Owl fraternity, Iota Phi Gamma frat, Circle K, and Newman club."

Tom Smith

A math and industrial arts major, Tom is a freshman from Wadena.

"I believe that one goal to be striven for by the Student Commission is that of a closer relationship with the student body. If elected, I plan to do all that I can in respect to this problem."

"I have been elected vice-president of the Student Union planning committee, and I believe that this experience will help to better qualify me for a position on the commission. I also am president of the freshman class, and through this I am aware of some desires of the students and feel that I have closer contact with them."

"I have been elected vice-president of the Student Union planning committee, and I believe that this experience will help to better qualify me for a position on the commission. I also am president of the freshman class, and through this I am aware of some desires of the students and feel that I have closer contact with them."

For pep:

Gerry Jensen

From Mahanomen, Gerry is a sophomore majoring in elementary education.

"As pep commissioner there are a few things I would like to see done in the following commission year: (1) more unification between the band and Pep club, (2) make the Pep club a stronger organization on campus and see that the Pep club forms the nucleus of the cheering section at games, (3) pep fests better organized and more publicized."

"I am a member of the Pep club and have had five years experience as a cheerleader."

"I would try to do my best as a commission member in working with the other members to make the Student Commission of 1958-59 a success."

"I would try to do my best as a commission member in working with the other members to make the Student Commission of 1958-59 a success."

"I would try to do my best as a commission member in working with the other members to make the Student Commission of 1958-59 a success."

Daryl Olson

Daryl is a sophomore from Moorhead majoring in math and minoring in physical science.

"I believe that the pep commissioner should promote sportsmanship between the different schools, see that our school has more school spirit at games and activities that are carried on in school. I also believe that lack of participation in pep fests should be remedied."

"I have participated in Major-Minor, Pep club, and I am interested in promoting school spirit."

Barbara Kepner

A sophomore from Fargo, Barb is majoring in physical education and minoring in biology and English.

"I am interested in the school spirit of the student body. I think the weekend swimming is a good idea and that we should have more activity times during the weekend... such as physical ed. in the gym and some co-ed activities. Also, I think it would be nice if the cheerleaders cheered at the frosh games. A good addition to our band would be some majorettes."

"I am an officer in WAA and Pep club. Also I am a member of Major-Minor club."

Elinor Kinsella

Majoring in physical education and health and recreation, Elinor is a sophomore from Moorhead.

"In view of the extensive building program and anticipated increase in enrollment here at Moorhead State, I shall endeavor to match this growth and strength in our student government and closer working relations between the organizations and their commission representative."

"An improvement of the status of their college in the students' eyes can be achieved, I feel, by creating true interest in school sponsored events, by creating events that they have a true interest in resulting in the realization of our student body as a unit."

"I was a cheerleader in 1957, and am presently acting as an alternate cheerleader. I am treasurer of Pep club, president of Young Democrats a member of WOCA, a member of Major-Minor, and a member of Pi Mu Phi sorority."

"In my program I would like to see: new cheers, more cohesion of cheerleaders to pep band, well-organized pep assemblies, organization of an official majorette corps, cohesion between commissioners of pep, social activities, and publicity to rid us of the 'suitcase college attitude.' (For this I have several specific ideas outlined.)"

"I feel that a definite contribution to the overall college program is made by forensics activities. It is my aim to promote this effort."

"One problem facing the commission is increasing student interest and active support in all school events... from football to forensics. During high school I was active in forensics... drama club, plays, operettes, declamation, and essay winner. At MS I was in the all-college fall play, am with KMSC radio, a member of Dragon Masquers, and am on the freshman council."

For forensics:

Anita Miller

Anita is a freshman from Appleton majoring in elementary and minoring in speech.

"I feel that a definite contribution to the overall college program is made by forensics activities. It is my aim to promote this effort."

"One problem facing the commission is increasing student interest and active support in all school events... from football to forensics. During high school I was active in forensics... drama club, plays, operettes, declamation, and essay winner. At MS I was in the all-college fall play, am with KMSC radio, a member of Dragon Masquers, and am on the freshman council."

Shirley DeVries

An Elbow Lake sophomore, Shirley is majoring in English and minoring in speech.

"If elected as forensics commissioner I will try to encourage more people to take an active part in college plays... both on stage and helping backstage with the production of the play. I will also do my best to organize a wider range of activities for the debate team."

"I am a member of Dragon Masquers and English club."

Lowell Olson

Lowell Olson is a Glenwood freshman and is a pre-engineering student.

"There are several reasons why I chose to run for the office of commissioner of forensics. The main reason is, of course, to promote forensics. I plan to do this through you, the student body of our college; you are the only individuals that can determine the place forensics plays in your college career. I intend to present this to you with the utmost clarity and to urge you to participate in your college forensics department."

Ronald Olson

A Glenwood junior, Ron is majoring in math and minoring in speech and music.

"Because dramatics and debate are an integral part of any college and because student participation can be gained through increased interest, I, as forensics commissioner will carry on a program of increased publicity for plays, will write letters to high school dramatics directors, and will encourage students to get out and take part in dramatics and debate in order that this department may grow along with the college."

"I have had experience in college dramatics, am a member of Alpha Psi Omega (national dramatic fraternity), am on the debate squad, treasurer of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, and president of Young Republicans."

For publicity:

Cherie Boen

Cherie is a freshman from Wadena and has a major in psychology and art.

"The Student Commission of MSC is faced with modifying old policies and adapting new policies which will be in the best interests of an ever-increasing student body and a newly acquired state college status."

"MSC students should be informed of events not only on their campus but also on the state level."

Discuss ID's and food

Bob Knutson presented information on identification cards for MSC students at the Monday, Feb. 3 meeting of the Student Commission.

The identification cards would have photographs of the student holding the card and copies of the same photograph would also be made available for school records.

A motion was made that the Student Commission approve the I. D. cards on our campus to take effect the fall quarter of 1958 and recommend that the motion be sent to the Administrative Council with commission approval.

The food service in the cafeteria was also discussed at the meeting. The commission has received many complaints on the food being served in the cafeteria.

Larry moved that the commission set up a committee from the commission to discuss the food problem with Dr. Knoblauch. The motion was seconded and passed. Appointed to the committee were Elmer Reseland, Nancy Johnson, Bob Knutson, and Ron Kragness.

Young Dems to meet

The Young Democrat Organization at Moorhead State College announces it will be represented by six of its members at the annual state convention which starts Friday at St. Cloud, Minn.

The three-day convention is being hosted by the clubs from the college of Saint Benedict, St. John's University, and St. Cloud State College.

MSC students attending will be freshmen Gloria Halverson, Judith Ford, and Sandra Ness; and sophomores Lola Krueger, Carol Strand, and Elinor Kinsella.

Carol Strand is a candidate from the ninth district for the position of vice chairman-at-large.

Members of the organization recently attended the ninth district YDFL convention where two of them were elected to office.

Carol Strand was elected for her second term as district chairwoman and Elinor Kinsella, third vice chairwoman.

Discussions at the meeting centered around the plans for the state convention and the delegates drew up the resolutions they intend to submit to the state convention platform committee.

Juniors to meet Tuesday for teaching orientation

All Junior candidates for the B.S. degree in education and the 40 sophomore candidates for the provisional certificate will attend the first annual orientation meeting, Tuesday, Feb. 11, at 4 p.m. in Weld hall auditorium.

Members of the student teaching supervisory staff will explain the MSC student teaching program and answer questions raised by students.

Application filing

For the first time preliminary student teaching applications will be distributed. Students will fill them out and turn them in to the student teaching office before Mar. 1.

On the basis of these applications it will be possible to plan student teaching assignments two quarters in advance. Regular student teaching applications will be due not later than April 15 before the year in which the student intends to do his student teaching.

The plan will be beneficial to student teachers, their advisors, and the student teaching staff. It is hoped that many of the questions concerning student teaching may be answered now and that advanced planning may facilitate the student's professional quarter.

Program grows

MSC's full-time student teaching program, now in its third year, has outgrown the facilities available in the Fargo-Moorhead area. In keeping with the national trend the program now includes resident-center programs in five communities.

Student teachers are given opportunities to become real teachers during their professional quarter.

The student teacher lives and works in the community as a teacher having nearly all the experiences of a new teacher in his first position. This approximates the intern-type experiences of medical doctors.

Ghost

by Judith Nelson

Highway patrolman John Stevens gave young officer Phil Regan an astonished look, then shrugged disgustedly. "A ghost?" he said, then almost shouted it. "A GHOST tying up traffic?"

Phil chuckled. "That's what the lady said — a ghost."

"I've heard of people thinking they saw ghosts before, Phil, but when one can cause a traffic jam —!"

The Park Hill cemetery was next to the highway leading out of town, and the officers now saw that something was stopping traffic. The highway was crowded with cars, but no horns could be heard beeping and the cars seemed pretty much deserted. Phil parked the patrol car at the side of the road, and the two men wound their way between the cars until they reached the crowd.

John tapped a man on the shoulder. "What's this about a GHOST?" He was shouting again. Of all the stupid, fool, ridiculous ideas.

The man looked John in the eye. "There's one floating from tombstone to tombstone in the graveyard."

John and Phil made their way to the front of the crowd. There was indeed something moving among the tombstones. John blinked and looked harder, then he looked at Phil. "Ghosts!" he scoffed. "Go in there and get 'em out, Phil."

"You go in there and get them out, John. It only takes one human to make a ghost disappear."

"Huh," was John's disgusted comment. "Ghosts, huh!" he said to no one in particular as he walked through the gate.

"Ooooooooooooo, ooooooooooooooooo!"

Then he saw it — a white shape passing gracefully between two tombstones not ten feet away. "Stop or I shoot!" snapped John, and was amazed to find himself pointing his revolver at the place where he'd seen the shape. Cautiously, very cautiously, he advanced towards the spot and peered around one of the markers.

The white face that looked up at him wasn't that of a ghost. The sobbing sound wasn't made by a ghost either, but by Stanley Jenkins, a local teenager. Stanley had pulled a white sheet tightly around himself, and now said in an unsteady voice, "I was only trying to have some fun. After all, it's Hallowe'en and I don't dare do anything mean, and I'm too big to go trick or treating. I didn't want to get sh-shot at!"

John wanted to say, "You silly kid, don't you know your type of fun tied up about a hundred cars out there? You're going to march right through that crowd with me right now." Then John thought sheepishly, But what will people think about me, pulling a gun on a kid? And they'll say I'm afraid of ghost! So he said instead, "I'll go back and tell 'em there's nothing here. When they're paying attention to me, run for all you're worth, and get outa here. And take your stupid sheet along!"

He started back towards the crowd, thinking desperately, I hope I can make this sound convincing. In a loud voice (so everyone would be sure to listen, he told himself) he said, "Ladies and gentlemen, there is absolutely nothing in that cemetery that resembles a ghost. Your imaginations have been playing tricks on you. Please go back to your cars and move them as quickly as possible — you're blocking a state highway."

* * *

Much later that night, when John was filling out the nightly report, he looked up at Phil. "How do I list that thing that happened at the cemetery?" he inquired.

"Just list it 'ghost,'" answered Phil, and waited until John bent his head to finish writing before he smiled.

"I feel that with my art background I am qualified to be publicity commissioner."

Desta Schuetze

Freshman "Dez" is from Fergus Falls and is majoring in psych and English.

"I seek the office of publicity commissioner because making students aware of college activities is essential. I would like the opportunity to express my ideas in creative poster art. The commission's greatest problem is scheduling activities to interest the majority of students, especially on weekends.

"As a freshman I have done publicity for Sadie Hawkins day, UCCF, and am publicity chairman for the freshman variety show; I am secretary of the freshman class, treasurer of UCCF, and a member of the Student Union planning committee."

From Wadena, Harsey is a biology major and a math minor. He is a freshman.

"I chose the office for which I am running because I wanted to serve on the commission and I feel that publicity is the office for which I am best suited. I have not been here long enough to learn much about the problems facing the commission but I think, if elected, I will find out soon enough.

"I was on the football team this fall and I feel that this experience drew me closer to the school and the student body. I am also a member of the Alpha Epsilon fraternity, which I feel helps one to know more people and therefore better serve the majority."

Tom Swanson

A Detroit Lakes freshman, Tom is majoring in music and is getting a minor in English.

"As we all know, each organization and school activity needs publicity for its functions. I would like to promote the idea of having a publicity committee made up of a representative from each organization and a smaller committee headed by the commissioner.

"When an organization is sponsoring or putting on some event, it would send its representative to the commission committee; the committee would take over the advertising of the event.

"The main things I think the commission should do are to make the students aware of their ability to help themselves and promote an active interest in student affairs."

Darrell Bertness

"I am seeking election as social commissioner because I am much interested in social activities at MSC. I feel that one of the big items that the new commission faces, from a social viewpoint, is the initiation of a new type of program which would encourage students to stay on campus on weekends. I have gained experience from working on several dances for co-rec. I was in charge of band stand decoration for the homecoming dance committee. I am presently president of the Student Union planning committee and a member of the Alpha Epsilon fraternity."

Kay Weber

A Fargo sophomore, Kay is majoring in elementary education.

"I seek the office of social commissioner because I am very interested in improving the social activities on campus. There is a definite lack in the social life at MSC, and his should be corrected. This is one of the commission's major problems."

Through participation in the various college organizations such as freshman council, sorority, and debate I have gained insight into the school's social problems."

Two top teams tangle MSCC title at stake

Saturday night the area's top collegiate basketball game takes place when the St. Cloud State Huskies match shots with the Dragons on the MSC court at 8 p.m.

Both teams are deadlocked for the number one spot in the tight Minnesota State College Conference basketball race. The Huskies are 3-1 having lost to Winona State. Moorhead was stopped at St. Cloud earlier in the season and also boasts a 3-1 mark. MSC entertains North Dakota State on Tuesday evening.

13-4 record

Coached by Paul Meadows, St.

Shades of 1958! Reitan's 25 shines

Sweeney Bros. of Fargo proved that experience and hustle were too much as they easily downed the Moorhead State Frosh 71-52 Saturday afternoon in a preliminary to the Dragon-Winona State game. The crack independent quintet rolled to a 39-22 halftime advantage.

Kenny Reitan sparked Sweeney's with 25 points from his guard spot. The Comstock mighty mite dropped through 17 first half points. Teammate Dale Serum added 14, nine of his total coming in the final half.

Reitan

Leading the yearlings was a Jim Duncan with 13. Lanky Dale Olson and Dick Quast hit 12 and 11 points, respectively.

The loss dropped the Dragon Frosh's record to 2-11 and the win gave Sweeney's a 1-2 mark against F-M frosh competition as both North Dakota State and Concordia were victorious.

Groaners thumped but Kragness wins

by Dave Kroshus

Bemidji's Beavers slapped the MSC matmen with a 27-3 defeat last Wednesday. The loss came on three pins and four decisions.

Ron Kragness was the lone MSC man to gain a victory. His decisive decision gave Kragness two consecutive wins, and the needed confidence to continue winning.

Keith Dyre lost a close and very much disputed decision. Dyre was behind on points in the final period and was trying for a pin. He almost had his opponent pinned when the whistle blew. The referee gave him one point for a "predicament" whereas he should have gotten credit for a "near fall" which is worth two points and would have given Dyre the victory.

In exhibition Rod Smith picked up his first win of the season with a nifty 4-0 decision.

Cloud holds a 13-4 season mark against some stern opposition. They've gone out of the loop to play teams like St. John's, St. Thomas, Augustana College, Cornell College (Mt. Vernon, Ia.), North Dakota State and several good Wisconsin schools.

The Huskies played an attractive 12 game non-conference slate before hosting the Dragons on Jan. 11 in their conference opener.

Little All-American

Vern Baggenstoss, 6'3" of basketball finesse, is St. Cloud's top man. The Albany prepster was Little All-American last year and this year is living up to the reputation.

Ranking 10th in NAIA rebounding with an 18.4 per game mark, Baggenstoss "kills" opposition on the boards. Teaming with him at forward is Captain Jack Kelly, a 6'3" senior from Pipestone.

The center spot is held by LeRoy Hentges, a 6'5" sophomore from Jordan. Guard spots are capably handled by Hamline transfer Billy Selisker and 6'5" John Ledin, a junior from Cambridge.

Should Ledin moved into the center spot, Loren Malmer, the shortest man on the squad takes over. Malmer saw considerable action last year at guard and sparked the Huskies in place of the injured Eddie Miller.

Kelly was the Huskies' top point getter last year with a 17.5 average. Baggenstoss had a 17.2 per game mark.

Scouts Dragons

Meadows was on hand to see the Dragons beat Bemidji Tuesday night and did not have too much to say in regard to his club. St. Cloud did, however, have a rough time edging out visiting Mankato Saturday night, 74-73. Baggenstoss was high with 19. A missed Mankato with just two seconds remaining prevented the Indians from a possible win.

Moe 18th

Dragon Sherm Moe, who along with running mate Lowell Bolger paced the Dragons to their win over Bemidji, is 18th in latest NAIA basketball individual scoring statistics. Moe holds a 22.1 per game average.

Last minute squeaker gives cagers 3 pt. win

By Dick Seal

Winona State's game Warriors gave the Moorhead State Dragons all they wanted but the Crimson and White came out on the long end of the score, 76-73 in 40 minutes of thrill packed basketball.

The Dragons in winning Saturday night ran their Minnesota State College Conference record to 2-1 while Winona fell to 2-2. League leading St. Cloud State increased its record to 3-1 at the Granite City Saturday night by edging Mankato State 74-73.

Lead falls

The Dragons led 69-54 with 715 left before the Warriors splurged to pull to within two at 75-73 with 40 seconds left. Winona was charged with a technical foul when asking for its sixth time out with 27 seconds left. Lowell Bolger made the gift toss to clinch the win.

Winona outscored the Dragons by 30-28 from the field. The Warriors found the range on 30 of 66 shots for a .455 mark while the Dragons canned 28 of 63 for a .444 clip. The Dragons stayed ahead on free throws but made only 20 of 39 compared to Winona's 13 of 23.

MSC took a permanent lead at 10-9 after four early ties and held its biggest first half advantages at 40-29 and 42-31.

Three baskets by the high scoring Al Svenningsson and one by Herb Espinda pulled Winona to within three at the start of the second half. The Dragons managed, however, to push ahead to an 11-point lead.

Ten quick points

Winona made 10 straight points in the last three minutes to trail by two at 75-73 at 1:30. After Dale Champ missed a free throw Winona gained

March is busy month Dragon tails

By Wes Van Tassel

Here is a bit of information on coming intramurals. Immediately following the basketball season will be a free throw tournament. Each contestant is allowed 50 shots. The winner will be awarded the trophy.

The intramural bowling program will begin in about two weeks. More will be known next week. March will be a busy month for all interested in competing in some form of intramural sport. Trophies will be awarded in each category.

Badminton will head events in March. Soon afterward wrestling tournament will be held. The tournament is tentatively set for the first week in March. Also a swimming meet will be held. Archery will begin as will softball, golf, tennis, and horseshoes. The track and field events will begin a little later.

Van Tassel

All students interested are urged to check the bulletin board in the physical department and on the different floors in Ballard hall.

Eligibility

The ruling on eligibility is still the same. A letterman is not allowed to compete in the sport he has lettered in unless he has sat out one year of intercollegiate competition.

The intramural program is under the direction of Mr. Roy Domek. Any student wanting to clarify difficulties should contact him. Mr. Domek's program is known to be the first of its kind at Moorhead State and thus far is very successful.

Column Error

A few weeks ago I wrote a column titled, "Grid Rules Discussion." A number of errors in the column were called to my attention by Jim Savage, sports editor of the Winona-Herald.

I stated that two new rules had been added to the football rule book, one on scoring and the other on blocking. Jim pointed out that five rules had been added. (The other three are minor in comparison with the two printed in the Mistic and as yet we have no information on them.)

Another mistake was in regard to our athletic association. Moorhead State is a member of the NAIA (National Association of Intracollegiate Athletics), not the NAIC as was previously printed.

MS gains 3-1 mark with victory over last place Bemidji

By Dick Seal

Spearheaded by the Dragons' deadly duo of Sherm Moe and Lowell Bolger who combined for 55 points, the Moorhead State Dragons moved into a two-way tie for first in the Minnesota State College Conference by handing visiting Bemidji State a 92-81 lacing Tuesday night.

The Dragons now possess a 3-1 loop mark as does St. Cloud State. In winning Tuesday night, the Crimson and White ran their season record to a respectable 10-7.

Moe and Bolger were "hotter than pistols." Moe drilled in 11 of 16 field goal chances and added 7 of 8 free throws for his high point honors.

Bolger meshed 9 of 18 fielders and hit on 8 of 12 free throws. Moe also led in rebounding with 14.

Teammates Rod Zimmerman and Al Santwire contributed 11 points each. Santwire, a freshman guard from Mahanomen, came in for two buckets in the first half and then started the second half and found the range for seven important points.

Moe's 15 first half points sparked the Dragons to their 45-42 intermission lead. Bolger was the spark-plug in a 47-point second half drive with 17.

Bemidji had three players scoring 20 points each in Jim Lawrence, Joe Servon, and Billy Wagner. Servon fouled out after turning in another of his usual fine performances. Wagner coming in for freshman Herb Parker at center, scored his entire point total in the first half. The Fisher 6'6" sophomore picked up three first half fouls and his fourth came early in the second half. He missed more than 10 minutes in the final half.

Frosh win

With the addition of sophomores Dale Champ and Jack Nemzek, the Moorhead State Frosh rolled to an 86-82 win over the Beaver B team in Tuesday night's preliminary game. The win cracked a nine game losing streak and gave the yearlings a 3-11 mark against Bemidji's 6-3.

Champ, a 5'6" sophomore, flipped in 28 points from his guard spot. Sixteen of his points came in the first half when the Dragons rolled to a 46-36 first half lead. Jim Duncan added 15 and Nemzek netted 10.

Jerry Freudenberg topped Bemidji with 14. Don Hoffman hit 13, Lee Swanson 12, Jerry Chandler and Joe Suman, 10 each.

Club discusses play

Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" was the topic of discussion at the Monday evening meeting of the English club. Members related the play to other works of Shakespeare and talked about the presentation of it recently in Weld hall.

Topic for discussion at the meeting set for Feb. 17 will be "Macbeth," which the Concordia theatre is to present soon.
